CHINATOWN LISTENS TO THE WAR.

ORIENTAL CALM VANISHES AT RADIO NEWS OF DEFEAT.

SONG AND DANCE CEASE: SILENCE FALLS ON COLOURFUL LONDON RESTAURANT.

The establishment of Mr. Wu in Limehouse exhales a pleasant fragrance of China tea.

It is a very discreet establishment. In a quarter unfortunately made famous by a pre-war denunciation of Dukes by Mr. Lloyd George and a post-war drama of dope-bonds by Mr. D. W. Griffith, it announces its whereabouts only by the most discreet of electric signs. In a wilderness of dark and drab houses in dark and drab streets it hints at no oasis of colour.

Nothing is more remote from the Chinatown of Hollywood than the Chinatown of Limehouse. Nothing, in outward appearance, is more unlike the China of Nanking and Shanghai and Chapei than the strange Cockneyised China of the East India Dockroad. Yet between China at war and China at peace there beats no stronger current of sympathy than that which electrifies the Chinatown of Limehouse when the B.B.C. broadcasts its news bulletin of the China-Japan war.

As I said at the beginning, Mr. Wu's is a fragrant place. It has nothing of the hearty beef, beer and tobacco odour of the sailors' rendezvous which surround it. It has nothing of that curious mixture of Montparnasse and Greenwich Village, the pre-war Empire Lounge and a Bond-street antiquary's which characterises the celebrated neighbouring public-house kept by my friend Mr. Charlie Brown.

A STUDY IN GREEN.

The walls of Mr. Wu's restaurant are painted a dull green. The slant-eyed girls with hula-hula hips who sway in Mr. Wong Wu's establishment to the clear music of Mr. Wong Wu's wireless are garbed in a green hardly lighter. The old, wrinkled, bald Chinese who has stood, smiling and blinking his small black eyes, at the bar of the little restaurant since I first knew it covers his baldness with a small black beret.

There is no suggestion of the garish and violent emotionalism which the vicinity of a great seaport carries with it from Marseilles to Malabar, from Cardiff to the Caribbean Sea. Mr. Wu's is a wistful, a melancholy place, where a calm Oriental fatalism is the dominating influence, where the harsh conflict of race and sex in the East End is muted to a philosophic tolerance, a mild pacifism without protest.

And yet Mr. Wu himself is no pacifist. On the walls of the inner room of his restaurant hangs a large portrait of the hero of Chinese democracy, Sun Yat Sen. It is garlanded with paper flowers. Mr. Wu only saw Sun Yat Sen once in the flesh, long, long ago, during that queer forgotten period of Chinese nationalism when Dr. Sun had just escaped from imprisonment in his country's legation in London. But nevertheless the portrait of the dead leader which Mr. Wu cherishes is made bright with paper garlands. For Sun Yat Sen, in Mr. Wu's eyes, is reincarnated in the Chinese who are resisting Japan.

MR. WU SPEAKS.

Over a table littered with the fragrant remains of Wan Tun, Chicken Chow Mein, Crip Noodles, Bamboo Shoots, and the other refinements of a culinary civilisation that was ancient when French cooking was still in the hands of the Gauls, Mr. Wu gave me his views on the war in China.

He is a slim, oldish man with burning, almond-shaped eyes, who has known London longer than he has known China and yet somehow conveys the conviction that he has never lost a secret association with his country.

Not a little of the secret diplomacy of China, I am certain, has been carried on by the slim hands of Mr. Wu. He is more interested in Nationalism than in Noodles. His Chow Mein is a symbol for all China.

MOTHERWELL BEATEN IN SCOTTISH CUP MATCH: RANGERS WIN BY TWO GOALS.

PARTICK THISTLE AND CLYDE AMONG THE FALLEN.

Saturday's games in the Scottish Cup Competition proved the undoing of Motherwell, who were defeated by the Rangers, their strong rivals for League honours, this season. Airdrie, Hamilton and Kilmarnock were the other teams who qualified for the semi-finals on March 20.

In the English League matches, Everton consolidated their position at the top of the League by netting four goals to two against Aston Villa. Manchester City returned a score of 5-1 against Newcastle and Chesterfield netted only once in their encounter with Oldham, who scored six goals.

Results and corrected League tables are appended.

"AFRICA SPEAKS."THRILLING FILM OF PRIMITIVE CONGO.

"Africa Speaks," which, in compliance with the public request, comes to "The Central Theatre" for a three days run again from today, is a graphic motion picture and sound record of a trip taken by Paul L. Hoefer through the hitherto unexplored regions of Africa.

Hoefer, who represented the Colorado African expedition, started inland from Mombassa on the Indian Ocean. His objective was Lagos on the Atlantic Ocean, a route which necessitated his penetrating the heart of equatorial Africa.

As the expedition sped along the founts, all types of wild beasts were encountered. Such gorgeous bits of natural beauty as the Nipon Falls, source of the Victoria Nile, were photographed by Hoefer's cameramen, while at one point the entire expedition was loaded on an old steamer and bouted down the ancient Egyptian river.

The Pygmies.

Two weeks spent among the pygmies of the Ituri forest resulted in some remarkable motion picture and sound studies of these mysterious little people of whom the civilized world knows little. At Dikwa, in North Nigeria, Hoefer and his party were entertained royally by the Emir of Dikwa, who met them with a native brass band and feasted them in a kingly style. Other friendly natives were the Nandi spearmen, who use only spears and shields in hunting the king of beasts. Thrilling photographs of hand to hand conflicts were taken and are shown in the film.

In Tanganyika the explorer obtained one of the most amazing motion picture phenomena ever made. This was of the gigantic swarm of locusts that flew over the great plains while the expedition was there.

These are only the highlights of the vast amount of material obtained by Hoefer on this amazing journey. Every detail of the trip is carefully recorded by camera and sound apparatus and the result shown in this film is as one of the most colourful and authentic depictions of life in the wild African jungle ever presented to the civilized world through the motion picture medium.

Said to be unparalleled are the amazing scenes of lions caught by the camera eye and ear, at rest and in motion the most tragic and breathtaking shots ever filmed is that of the destruction of a young savage who tries vainly to escape from an engaged giant male.

"SON OF INDIA."ORIENTAL ROMANCES FOR RAMON NOVARRO.

Ramon Novarro's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Son of India," which is coming to the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday tells its vivid story of India with no halts and no interruptions.

The story starts with a Hindu bandit raid on the party of a jeweller and his son.

A yogi, saves Novarro, the son, from death by burying him alive! The rajah is killed in the fight. Later, in Bombay, as a beggar, Novarro tries to sell the only thing he saved from the raid, an enormous diamond. A greedy jeweller charges him with theft of his own property, and Novarro is saved from false imprisonment by the intervention of an American, Conrad Nagel.

Saves Heroine's Life.

Novarro falls in love with Madge Evans, and saves her life during an exciting tiger hunt, when he meets and conquers Jagat, the bandit who killed his father. When the pair return to Bombay, Novarro is faced by the girl's brother, who proves to be Nagel, to whom Novarro owes such a debt of gratitude.

What happens later in this romance of interracial love must be left untold. To relate how Madge Evans solved the problem would be to detract from the public's enjoyment.

Ernest Vajda, talented author of the "best-seller" among plays, "Pata Morgana," did the adaptation from F. Marion Crawford's novel, "Mr. Isaacs." The picture was directed by the leading director of France, Jacques Feyder.

MOVIE NEWSOn the Screen in Hong Kong.MELODRAMA AT THE QUEEN'S."THE PHANTOM OF PARIS."

"The Phantom of Paris," the French melodrama starring John Gilbert at the Queen's Theatre, is a rare combination of romance and intrigue and the action moves swiftly across a background of continental splendour and opulence.

John Gilbert, whose dash, dash and easy mannerisms, have endeared him to so many millions, not only lives up to the Gilbert traditions in the art of love, but is cast in a character, or almost two characters, new to him. The first, in which Gilbert of the immaculate dress and tiny mustache is seen, is that of a magician whose feats of magic have made him the toast of all France. These very feats in turn serve to extricate him from almost impossible situations, even from a vast French prison, when he is unjustly arrested for a murder which he did not commit.

Then comes the quick change in the Gilbert style. In order to get the information that will prove his innocence he has to impersonate another, a cold-blooded marquis. The Gilbert mustache, so well known to film fans, gives way to a trim Van Dyke and one flashing eye looks through a monocle. Gilbert plays this almost dual rôle with a finesse and convincingness that reaches the heights.

The great French magician falls in love with Cecile, the daughter of an old and wealthy family, played by Leila Hyams. The Marquis du Touchais, a villainous money seeker, wishes to marry Cecile for her money. In order to accomplish his ends he murders the girl's father and the magician Cheri-Bibi is accused of the crime. He is arrested but frees himself from prison. A few years of hiding he hears that the marquis, who has married Cecile, is dying. He snatches the marquis from his deathbed and, by plastic surgery, has his face made over to resemble that of the marquis. From then on, romance and intrigue run rampant.

"THE AGE FOR LOVE."*HOWARD HUGHES' LATEST SCREEN ROLE.

Howard Hughes, "The Age For Love," which returns Billie Dove to the screen after more than a year's absence, will open at the Central Theatre very soon.

Howard Hughes made his bow to the film industry with "Two Arabian Knights" and followed with "The Racket." Both of these films won awards from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, as "best pictures" of the year, and won similar honours in nationwide polls of the country's leading movie critics.

The young producer then made "Hell's Angels," and more recently he panicked movie audiences everywhere with "The Front Page."

And now comes "The Age For Love," a United Artists release, a bold and sophisticated treatment of a modern subject—love and marriage.

"The Age For Love" was directed by Frank Lloyd, and is based on the popular novel by Ernest Pascal. Robert E. Sherwood, noted playwright and movie critic composed the dialogue, and the cast, in addition to Miss Dove, includes Charles Starrett, Lois Wilson, Edward Everett Horton, Mary Duncan, Adrian Morris and Betty Ross Clarke.

BEST GANGSTER FILM.FINE ACTING BY NEW STAR.

America has given us many fine gangster films, but none more exciting or more convincing than "The Guilty Generation," which was shown in the West-end of London, last month. Indeed, it is in many ways the best gangster film yet made, as well acted and directed as "City Streets," and more realistic than "The Secret Six."

"The Guilty Generation" does not rely for its effects on police-car sirens and the roar of guns; it is a drama of character and brilliantly contrived situation. All the characters are real human beings, and in

"THE YELLOW
TICKET."*GREAT PART FOR LIONEL BARRYMORE.

In a rôle exceeding the dramatic power of his impersonation of the inebriate lawyer in "A Free Soul" and the father in "Guilty Hands," Lionel Barrymore, as the insidious head of the Czarist Russian Secret Police in Raoul Walsh's "The Yellow Ticket" will show at the King's Theatre next Friday. Though Mr. Barrymore is reputed to be a most kindly individual in private life, one would never think that possible after seeing his relentless and cruel persecution of Elissa Landi, the brilliant Fox star who plays the feminine lead in the picture. So realistic and genuine is his performance that one would believe he took personal delight in his brutal treatment of the defenceless girl.

"The Yellow Ticket" is the first picture in which Miss Landi and Barrymore have played in together and it is admirably suited to the highly dramatic methods of both stars. With them is Laurence Olivier, a newcomer from the London and Broadway stage, in the other featured rôle, Miss Landi's lover. The other players are Walter Byrone, Sarah Padden, Rita La Roy, Mischa Auer, Boris Karloff and Arnold Korff. It is the talking screen's version of Michael Morton's play that caused great comment several seasons ago. It was adapted, by Jules Furthman who also collaborated with Guy Bolton.

the end you can understand even the gang leader, devoted to his mother and children, whose pride and ambition drive him on to his doom. All the acting is good, but two performances are memorable. Leo Carrillo, the new Spanish-born star who has become the chief rival of Edward G. Robinson, brings to the gangster part a quiet but profound and impressive strength and realism; and Emma Dunn makes a tragic figure of the gangster's mother who is driven to kill her son to prevent the younger generation from being subjected to the menacing feud of their elders.

THE SLUMP HITS HOLLYWOOD.*"CUT" ULTIMATUM TO STARS.

Hollywood's film industry has been crippled by the slump to such an extent that all but six of the more important companies have suspended production. The studios still working are Fox, Metro-Goldwyn, Paramount, Radio, Warners, and Universal.

All the others have been absorbed or forced to stop work until revenue from films already made begins to come in. Pathé have merged with Radio, Columbia recently closed for a month or more, and United Artists will suspend production for six months.

FAMOUS RUSSIAN
PIANIST.*KING'S THEATRE RECITAL POSTPONED

Owing to the short notice given to the public, the concert by the celebrated Russian pianist, Alexander Brailowsky, advertised to take place to-night at the King's Theatre, has been postponed till his return from Japan towards the end of April.

The most rigid economies are being insisted on by the Wall Street financiers who control the industry. Salaries of players, executive officials, writers, and technicians have been cut, and most stars have been given the choice between accepting 30 or 35 per cent. less and finding other employment.

Freelances.

John Barrymore has followed the example of Adolphe Menjou and is now freelancing. Charles Rogers has left the screen for broadcasting, and at least a dozen other celebrities have not had their contracts renewed.

While the hardships of lesser people are arousing much sympathy, it is agreed that stars have been too greedy. "In no other industry in the world are the workers so grossly overpaid," says the editor of a Hollywood magazine. "In no other industry will good looks—whether you have talent or not—bring you big money if you're lucky enough to break into the game."

But Hollywood still has a sense of humour. The latest jest is that times are so bad that even you-men merely nod.

ALEXANDER BRAILOWSKY.*GREAT PIANIST COMING TO KING'S THEATRE.*TWO MANILA OPINIONS OF HIS PLAYING.

The recital promised for this evening by Brailowsky, the Russian pianist has been postponed till the end of April. The Management of the King's Theatre informed us that April 29 was the date arranged, and arrangements with regard to booking would be announced later.

A leading Manila critic said of this artist; Brailowsky is a splendid artist. He has often been called the poet of the piano, in reminiscence of Chopin whom he interprets so beautifully, but appeared more in the guise of the dramatist. This was particularly true in the two major works of his programme, the D minor Toccata and Fugue of Bach and the Appassionata Sonata of Beethoven. The performance of the Bach number was a triumph of artistic achievement more significant than anything else which Brailowsky played. It is in a work of this character that the pianist appears as the dramatist. He played his Bach with the life and fire and, (even in the D minor Toccata) the splendid musical sense of humour which marks so much of Bach's writing.

Much of the same thing should be said of the reading of the Beethoven Sonata. It is so familiar a work that the countless tricks of phrase of persons of less imagination than Beethoven are constantly likely to stand in the way of its complete enjoyment.

The Chopin waltz, (E flat Op. 18) was played with delightful facility and verve, and was thoroughly enjoyable, while it goes without saying that a pianist with the virtuoso equipment of Brailowsky can bring down a Manila audience with the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody. He did, and played for an encore, Mendelssohn's charming "Spinning Song." Brailowsky has concluded his short engagement in Manila, and has given the public an opportunity to hear an artist of really colossal stature.

A Second Opinion.

Another critic says of him: Mr. Brailowsky is an artist who combines musical mysticism of the most profound depths with mathematical calculation and accuracy. He has an infinite capacity for detail, embellishing and enriching the organic whole with little, expertly placed items—a hint of tone colour here, a variation in tempo there, a short vigorous attack in one place contrasted with a quiet, singing tone in another.

He builds his climaxes along perfectly proportioned lines, enunciating the themes with growing importance, never hurriedly, always with sober restraint, never monotonous, always carrying the listener along in a flood of ravishing tonal beauty.

Aside from his superb technical and interpretative attainments, the striking individuality of his readings and his honest, unassuming poise, make the impression received from his playing doubly more grateful and lasting.

His scherzos were made with great brilliance and with infallible technical accuracy; his playing, even in moments of highest lyricism never lost its thoroughness, its culine touch and vigor. He was equally impressive in soft, murmured, pianissimo passages as in crashing, dramatic chords in the fortissimo.

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE."*DRAWN FULL HOUSES.

The talking film version of Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," filled the King's Theatre yesterday. The strange and terrible story is beautifully staged, acted and recorded, and the audiences were spell-bound by the grim narrative. Frankly, it is not a picture for children, and the highly strung should think twice about going, but for all lovers of strong and out-of-the-way drama "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be welcomed. Frederick March plays the double rôle with astonishing power; and Miriam Hopkins also wins a real success.

CHINATOWN LISTENS TO THE WAR.

And it is all China that he speaks for—this Cantonese merchant of chop suey, in whose green-painted rooms many strange, silent men sit together. "We have no army," he said, in his singing monosyllables.
"We have only men. Four hundred millions of them. We shall not declare war."

"WE SHALL CONQUER."

"The war is on. We shall fight.
Many will be killed. Many more will take their places. We shall be defeated. We shall die. But in the end we shall conquer. You cannot exhaust a nation of four hundred million."

He gave me, with an air of pride, a copy of a weekly Nationalist review published in China.
It was beautifully printed, in English and in Chinese characters. On its front page in red letters was the title of an article, "General Hon-jo's Plan of World Conquest." General Honjo is the Japanese commander in Manchuria. Evidently Chinese propagandists are not backward in hinting at the ultimate intentions of the Japanese.

The singing voice of Mr. Wu died into a murmur. A louder English voice, now filled the restaurant.
The smiling, wrinkled old man with the bare left ear. The slant-eyed girls forgot to sway their sinuous hips to imaginary music.

The yellow-faced men, leaning together over chairs and smoking cigarettes, ceased their toneless conversation and listened. Mr. Wu learned forward intently. The Chow Mein and the Wun Tun grew colder on our plates. It was the firm English voice of the broadcaster, announcing fresh Japanese victories, fresh conflicts, fresh bloodshed.

The restaurant was filled with an almost visible excitement. For once the calm and fatalistic immobility of the Oriental seemed to have been abandoned. There was an electric rumour of war in the air.

All Chinese London was listening in.—Evening Standard.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

DEDICATION SERVICE.

During the service on Sunday morning, March 6, the above Church was dedicated, the following address being given from the rostrum:—

With grateful hearts we announce that to-day our Church Edifice is dedicated, free and clear from all indebtedness to Truth and Love;
and, in words of our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, pray, that it and all who worship therein will stand throughout all time for God and humanity.

In the autumn of 1909 a few earnest students of Christian Science organized the Christian Science Society of Hong Kong.
The services were held in a private home until early the next year, when it was decided to move to the Music Room of the City Hall, where the Sunday services and Wednesday evening meetings were held until May 1906. A further change to York Building, and later rooms in Zetland Street, was made, regular services being held at the latter place until January 1912.
In August of 1913 the Society was organized into a Church, and named
First Church of Christ, Scientist,
Hong Kong.

During the year 1910 we acquired the present site, and in March 1911
the contract was let and ground broken for the erection of our Church Building. Work progressed steadily and the opening service was held on Sunday, January 12, 1912.

On this joyful occasion of our dedication we wish to express our heartfelt gratitude to our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, whose discovery of Christian Science has resulted in untold blessings to humanity. We are also deeply grateful to our many friends who have helped us.

In her dedicatory Message to The

(My. 64): "The First Commandment of the Hebrew Decalogue,
'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' and the Golden Rule are the all-in-all of Christian Science."
In all her writings, through all the years of her leadership, she has been teaching her followers both by precept and example how to obey this commandment and rule, and her success in so doing is what constitutes the high standing of Christian Science before the world. Fearlessly does she warn all her followers against the indulgence of the sin which would prevent the realization of ideal manhood—the reign of the Christ—and now it is ours to address ourselves with renewed faith and love to the high and holy task of overcoming all that is un-

"I will take Sanatogen till my nerves are better"

THOUSANDS of people—as sceptical as you—have discovered that their decision: "I will give Sanatogen a fair trial," has changed their whole life.

Where formerly they felt worn and tired, they now enjoy radiant health and abundant energy. They are really and thoroughly healthy again, able to do a full day's work without feeling any fatigue.

Sanatogen revitalizes the whole cell life of your system and multiplies the number of red blood corpuscles. But its main strength lies in its remarkable influence on the nervous system. That is principally due to the glycerophosphate which is present in Sanatogen in the exact form in which it exists in the nerve cells. It is only from Sanatogen—an intricate chemical combination unique in the whole scientific world—that these delicate nerve-cells can fully absorb the energising phosphates.

That's why that famous standard work, "The Elements of Pharmacy, Materia Medica and Therapeutics," says:

"In neurasthenia and neuralgic conditions, Sanatogen is clearly indicated"

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 6.

The Golden Text was—"O man greatly beloved, fear not; peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong!" (Daniel-10-19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible—"All flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you" (1 Peter I. 24, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy—"Human logic is awry when it attempts to draw correct spiritual conclusions regarding life from matter. Finite senses have no true appreciation of infinite Principle, God, or of His infinite image or reflection, man. The mirage which makes trees and cities seem to be where they are not, illustrates the illusion of material man, who cannot be the image of God" (p. 300).

KIDNAPPERS CAUGHT

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD BOY RECOVERED

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Mar. 6. News has just been received that James Dejeu has been recovered and that his kidnappers have been arrested. No further details are given.

An earlier wire, dealing mainly with the case of the Lindbergh baby stated that another kidnapping sensation is engaging the attention of the police authorities of Washington.

The Federal Government have ordered every agency in the Department of Justice to help in the search for James Dejeu, the eleven-year-old son of a wealthy contractor, who was kidnapped from Niles, Ohio, shortly after the Lindbergh outrage.

Threats to murder the boy if the ransom demanded is not paid immediately have been sent to the boy's father.

LINDBERGH BABY KIDNAPPING

DRAMATIC DEVELOPMENTS

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

New York, Mar. 4. A dramatic arrest was made in New York to-day in connection with the kidnapping of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh's baby son.

The person in custody is a woman, who had been staying in Hopewell, New Jersey, near the residence of the Lindberghs for some time past, her name being Patzy Orlando.

Miss Orlando left Hopewell on the night of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and one of the avenues of the intensive police search led in her direction.

She was traced to Brooklyn and found to be living there under an assumed name this afternoon. She was immediately arrested under suspicion and taken to Trenton, New Jersey, for questioning.

An Accomplice?

It will be recalled that the investigations of the police immediately after the outrage, gave definite grounds for the belief that the kidnappers arrived in a big car which was left in the woods and that a woman accomplice was with them.

New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware State police are actively pursuing their enquiries, though no trace of the child has yet been found.

The arrest of Miss Patzy Orlando gives encouragement to the hope that the police hunt will soon prove successful.

AMERICAN SALES TAX

LEVY ON ALL MANUFACTURED GOODS

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4. In order to help meet the deficit of over a thousand million dollars ($200,000,000 at par) practically every article manufactured in the United States will have to bear a levy under the Sales Tax Bill now before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives.

The Committee has formally agreed to a two and a half per cent. general manufacturers' sales tax, respecting a proposal for a flat rate of two per cent.

HETMAN EQUALS RECORD FOR MILE AND QUARTER.

MESSRS. CHANG AND CHARLES RIDES TWO WINNERS EACH: FAVOURITES SHARE HONOURS WITH OUTSIDERS

MESSRS. TUNG AND CORBETT SERIOUSLY INJURED IN THE SIXTH RACE FOLLOWING ACCIDENT.

[By "MORNING DEW"]

There was some very good sport at Happy Valley on Saturday afternoon when the Jockey Club held their first Extra Meeting of the season.

Quite a number of Shanghai jockeys participated and the sport would have been perfect had not a nasty incident in the sixth race resulted in two very popular jockeys being seriously injured. Mr. T. Y. Tung, who had specially come down from Shanghai to ride at the Annual Meeting and who prolonged his stay to take in the first extra race meeting, and Mr. Corbett, whose successes in steeplechase events in Fanning are known to all racegoers, were the jockeys involved. Both were removed to the French Hospital and are progressing as well as might be expected.

Hetman won a race over a mile and a quarter in record time, Gold Key, ridden by Mr. A. W. deRoza finishing a good second. Mr. Y. S. Chang and Mr. R. H. Charles each rode two winners on Saturday.

MR. PROULX WINS FINE RACE ON WOTIN.

It will not be long before Mr. Butler will get out of his novice class as he is certainly a very promising jockey and can handle a good mount as well as anybody. After winning the first race with Whoopee, he rode quite well in the novice event to secure third place with Wembley Stag.

Mr. Charles' two wins on Boxing Eve and Chivalrous were by no means surprising as both ponies were tipped to win in Saturday's Daily Press. He had a fairly comfortable race with Boxing Eve, leading all the way home, but Chivalrous' victory of a length and a half was not as simple as it reads. It is true that there was nothing to beat in that field, but a surprising return to form by Pepper-mint caused some surprise. Mr. Noode on Punch came along with a terrific burst in the last quarter and had he started a little sooner, might have even won the race.

Before the Accident.

Mr. Y. S. Chang had a comparatively easy task on both his winning mounts, Gallant Fox and Hetman winning practically as they liked in their respective races.

Mr. T. Y. Tung, prior to his injury, rode Gold Bar to victory in the Tytman "A" handicap, accounting for a fairly classy field of subs. Mr. Corbett also had a win, bringing in Bowery Bay in the Novices event.

Maana had a fairly easy race in the race for non-winning Australians of 14 hands and under. The disappointment in this race was Anniversary Eve which failed to secure a place at all. The Rainbow and Joaquin ran very well to fill second and third places and there is no doubt that more will be heard of these two ponies later in the season.

Mr. Proulx rode a very well judged race on Wotin to win the last race of the day. Westland Stag and Lucy Glitters were well fancied and both were placed. Wotin led from the start to the finish, Mr. Proulx judging his mount's capabilities to a fine point and never allowed it to get too far ahead or allow it to lag at any stage.

The Accident.

The accident in the sixth race happened just after the start and in full view of those in the members' enclosure. While the majority of people were looking at the leaders, two ponies which brought up the rear, Somerset (Mr. Corbett) and Vim (Mr. Tung) were involved in an accident. Somerset was slightly in front at the time and suddenly bucked, throwing Mr. Corbett over his head. Vim ran right into Somerset and jockeys and ponies were all mixed up for the moment. When the ponies righted themselves, it was seen that both Tung and Corbett were unable to move. Willing hands soon carried them to the jockeys' room where Dr. Anderson and other medical men rendered all possible assistance to them and as soon as it was possible, both men were removed to the French Hospital. It is understood that Mr. Corbett fractured his left collar bone and that Mr. Tung was badly cut up in his face and body. It is gratifying to learn that both are progressing as well as might be expected.

HONG KONG, MARCH 7, 1932.

A JAPANESE JOKE.

It is said that the militarist mind is devoid of humour. That is quite untrue. There have been throughout history many great leaders, feared and worshipped, whose faces never relaxed, and to whom a joke would have been a matter for court-martial. Such were ALEXANDER, and NAPOLEON, the Tartar conquerors like TAMERLANE, and our own Earl of Chatham. While men of this type are the general model for aspiring men of war, it must be remembered that many other outstanding leaders, FREDERICK THE GREAT, CROMWELL, and LORD FISHER, for example, had a surfeit of sardonic wit.

How they would have appreciated the Japanese demand for an indemnity in respect of the damage inflicted upon them at Shanghai! The Japanese are generally accounted a solemn race, but this recent claim upon their enemy has the hall mark of an aggressor who numbers a sense of ironic comedy among his qualities.

Japan desires nothing from China! Not a yard of territory, no Concession at Shanghai; and she would not take Manchuria as a gift! She is the humble servant of the League of Nations, and her delegate at Geneva expresses sentiments that one of SHERRIDAN's heroes would find it impossible to match. She has tumbled to the Geneva manner. "She wants no foreign soil; she only asks for an indemnity for all she has suffered at Shanghai! Is not Geneva mainly occupied with matters concerning indemnities? Why not follow the prevailing mode!

If the indemnity be granted, most regretfully, and with disarming delicacy, come little and quite formal security will be required until the debt is liquidated. A temporary occupation of Manchuria, and perhaps one or two other small preoccupations! If the indemnity is refused, then the Japanese militarists, to their infinite distress, will have to take suitable measures to secure what is rightly due to them. Whether we approve or disapprove of the morals, let us at least render appropriate homage to a masterpiece of technique, lacking nothing, not even the divine ingredient of humour.

THE GOOD NEIGHBOUR.

THE PRINCE OF WALES recently addressed a huge and representative gathering of social workers—both official and voluntary—at the Albert Hall, and at the same time his speech was broadcast to similar gatherings throughout the country.

The appeal that he made was simple, direct and yet extremely opportune. It was a call to arms, not to the employment of the lethal weapons which were, in theory, discarded in 1913 but to the arms which alone could mitigate the sufferings and distress which the nation, at the present time is facing, through economic disorganisation. He made a claim upon youth for social service of a personal kind. The problem confronting the people was no doubt colossal, in fact world-wide, but if his audience was not—as they were not—in the "position to affect national or international movements yet by splitting up the problem they could at least contribute something towards its solution. The State as it grows more and more in organisation tends to make the individual of less and less value. The State no doubt can make provision for two to three million unemployed but it cannot administer its funds except on a purely business basis, nor can any organisation, said the PRINCE, provide the substitute for the good neighbour. He himself had endeavoured in the past years to bring about neighbourly feeling in the world and in the Empire, and many were working quietly, arduously and without hope of recognition, or reward, but there was need of greater service, for the social problems in Britain were on a vaster scale than ever before. Youth might not have created those difficulties, but it could not escape its responsibility for solving them. Each generation inherits the troubles of the past, and the war, which no doubt was the cause of Europe's present ills, was itself the evil consequence of actions of a pre-war generation. Youth therefore, by sympathy, by humane effort, and by social service, in a spirit of neighbourliness, should encourage especially those movements which will enable the unemployed to recover their self-respect and put them on the path of independence.

The appeal was intended to go beyond that special problem and out to the nation at large. In the great material development that had taken place, with the greater luxury that had characterised the post-war years, had there not, he asked, been something lost—spiritual values that more than outweighed the material gains, such as for example this feeling of neighbourliness. The modern townsman, says Dean Inge, is déraciné. "He has forgotten the habits and sentiments of the village from which his forefathers came. An unnatural and unhealthy mode of life, cut off from the sweet and humanizing influences of nature has produced an unnatural mentality to which we shall find no parallel in the past. Its chief characteristic is profound secularity and materialism." One of the striking features of modern life is that while it tends to herd people together in towns and factories it does at the same time lessen intimacy between the social groups for, while workers gather together in factories and offices to render their service, they dart asunder as soon as the day's work is over. Now even the suburbs are not so neighbourly, friendly and sociable as they were, for the motor car carries the residents even beyond the outskirts of the city with the result that civic life and suburban life suffer from a loss of that personal touch and interest which helped in the understanding and therefore in the solution of the civic problems. No one is his brother's keeper and no one is now a neighbour. Easy transport has tended to destroy neighbourliness and has brought in the professional government official, with his cold impartial outlook to deal with matters which require for their solution a warmer heart and a more intimate personal knowledge than over the state can provide.

It is in this direction, as the PRINCE pointed out, that the State fails and the individual succeeds, if he is imbued with the right spirit of social service and plays his part as a good neighbour.

American Yachtsmen at Cowes.

The team of four American six-metre yachts which is to compete against our boats will arrive in the Solent early in July.

After the British-American Cup races, which begin on July 8, are over it is to be hoped the visitors will prolong their stay until after Cowes week. If the Americans take this step they should enjoy some good international sport, for it is more than probable that Mme. Virginie Horiot will bring over to English waters her new six-metre Petite Aile V., which will be tried out at Cannes Regatta next week for the first time.

In addition to the presence of France's leading yachtswoman, it is anticipated that there may be several other foreign competitors at Cowes.

A Tree Story.

The proposal to revive "Julius Caesar" at His Majesty's Theatre reminds a correspondent of an amusing incident at His Majesty's when the late Sir Herbert Tree was finding Shakespeare an "obstinate success."

He was playing Antony, and was sitting in his famous dressing-room, when a visitor was announced. The young man, either from complete loss of nerve or from ignorance of good manners, failed to remove his hat.

Tree, before inquiring his visitor's business, walked to the hatstand, took up his silk topper and perched it on top of his Roman helmet. Then, turning to the trembling young man, this fantastic figure in toga, armour, and bared knees, remarked:

"Now we can talk on terms of much greater equality, don't you think?"

Sir Frederick Cowen, who has just celebrated his 80th birthday, belongs to the generation that set great store on the ability to turn a neat pun.

And then, when the laughter had died down, he added, with a charming naïveté: "I think that is the best pun I have ever made."

Never Ruffled.

Mr. Justice McCardie is, perhaps, the most outspoken of our High Court judges. But there is another side of him which the public may be less familiar with.

Severe when the occasion demands, he is, nevertheless, essentially humane in his attitude towards people and things in general. But acoustics, mumbled, witnesses, and argumentative counsel often try a judge's temper. But Mr. Justice McCardie is never ruffled.

He is most patient, most kindly, and characteristically just in his manner towards the contending parties.

"Frankenstein."

The films have turned to one of the most gruesome classics of English literature for the story of "Frankenstein" which is being shown next month. The tale of the man who endowed with life a mechanical monster that became the terror of his own species is familiar to nearly everybody. In fact, its title has added a word to the language.

It was written as a result of boredom in Switzerland. Its author was the second wife of the poet Shelley and she was only 21 at the time. Mary Wollstonecraft, such was her name, Byron, Shelley, and a few others were in the party when it was suggested that each should write a ghastly story in order to win away a dreary winter.

Frankenstein was Mrs. Shelley's contribution to this macabre literary feast. Byron wrote a few chapters of a tale of a vampire, but they were insignificant.

Looking Back 25 Years.

A Shanghai correspondent of the Times has hit upon a happy phrase: "To deal with the Chinese Government," he says, "has hitherto been like trying to fasten a jelly on the wall with tacks." The older member of the China Association, and many diplomats past and present, will appreciate that. It conveys the point of the story of Syaphus much more effectively than that old history of hopelessness. It is also a pleasing variation of the picture of the old lady who tried to sweep back the Atlantic with a broom, although that reminds us more of the Hong Kong Sanitary Board fighting imported disease than of negotiations with Peking. The jelly analogy is distinctly good, and fits Peking without a cross. Hitherto the mention of jelly has been associated with weakness, we say of an invertebrate man or policy that he or it is as weak and unstable as a jelly. The inherent strength of Mandarindom becomes apparent, however, when efforts are made to nail it up. The nail pierces it easily enough; it is not hard to move, but when we pause to observe the effect we find the jelly apparently intact, and by no means in the position we expected to find it.—Hong Kong Daily Press, March 7, 1907.

Looking Back 50 Years.

The condition of the Chinese army has more than once been the subject of remark in these columns. The Government of Peking well know that their military system is rotten to the core, and they have, from time to time, made some feeble efforts to make the army more efficient. These efforts, however, consisted mainly in the improvement of the arms carried. (Continued on previous column.)

ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL CEREMONY.

ROGERS-SPRADBERRY.

St. John's Cathedral was the scene of the marriage on Saturday afternoon of Miss Violet Irene Spradberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spradberry, and Mr. Bertram Sidney Rogers, son of the late Mr. S. Rogers and of Mrs. Rogers, of Christchurch, Hampshire. The Very Rev. S. Swann officiated.

Given away by her brother, Mr. E. J. Spradberry, the bride wore a dress of white chiffon velvet and tulle, embroidered with pearls. She had a Juliette cap of pearls and orange blossoms, a tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

As bridesmaids, the Misses Molly Groundwater and Gladys Saunders were attired in dresses of eau de nille green georgette appliqued with chiffon velvet flowers, with coats of chiffon velvet trimmed with white foxglove fur, and shoes to match. They wore silver caps and carried bouquets of pink roses.

Little Miss Jacqueline Spradberry, the bride's niece, as flower girl, was dressed in eau de nille green georgette, frilled, and trimmed with pink roses. She carried a basket of pink roses.

The bride's mother attended in a dress of pearl grey satin with grey fur.

Mr. J. Jones discharged the duties of "best man" and Mr. A. C. Wilkinson was the groomsmen. After a reception held at Lane, Crawford's Restaurant, the couple left for Repulse Bay on their honeymoon and they will afterwards go on a yachting cruise. Mrs. Spradberry's travelling dress was of beige georgette with silk coat to match, trimmed with fur, with hat and shoes to match. The dresses were made by Madame S. Leite.

BRITISH PRESS ON THE CRISIS

LEAGUE BLAMED FOR NEGLIGENCE OF TEN YEARS AGOEFFECT ON ANGLO-AMERICAN NAVAL SITUATION

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, March 4.

The reaction of the Far Eastern crisis on the interests of the British Empire is discussed by Mr. Wickham Steed (former editor of the Times) in an article in the Sunday Times. Mr. Steed refers to an American hint regarding the fortification of the Philippines and Guam if Japan continues to break the Kellogg Pact and the Nine Power Treaty and says that in the event of the American fleet being greatly increased Britain will be obliged equally to increase her navy unless she wished to give up the principle of naval equality with America, in which case Australia, New Zealand and West Canada would be compelled to look mainly for protection to the United States' navy in the case of war between the United States and Japan.

CANDID FRENCH OPINION

The French ex-Premier, M. Herriot, in an article in the Sunday Referee says that in reality Japan is taking advantage of European difficulties and entanglements to lust her 'securely' as possible on Chinese territory. If she achieves her ends it is useless to deny that the Washington Treaty, the Kellogg Pact, the League Covenant and the League of Nations itself will cease to exist.

Japan has done more than enough to emphasise her protest against too facile and deductive a code of political morality, and will only prejudice herself by any further measures of physical assertion, says the Observer.

All the League can do now is to secure a cessation of hostilities. The tragedy is that League restrained itself until its powers of service were thus limited to order the belligerents to keep the peace in the Far East. The League ought to have applied itself ten years ago to those problems of Chinese misrule which are bound to embroil the nominal government of that country with those who had given hostages within its borders. Now that Japan has shown that she will not participate in a game of make believe the League has to address itself to realities and build peace upon a serious adjustment of moral rights and interests, and to vindicate those who invested their faith in its future.

FRAYED TEMPER AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Mar. 5.

Temper became so frayed during the Assembly meeting of the League, this afternoon, that Sir John Simon had to appeal for the "local cessation of hostilities."

The Chinese and Japanese delegates continued their long wrangle over Far Eastern events.

Representatives of the small Powers mounted the rostrum and, mostly in an outpoken manner, criticised Japan. Three speakers hinted at the employment of the Economic Sanctions.

The Assembly has adjourned till March 7.

The foreign military observers, after returning from the Japanese front line, report there are no engagements and that there are only occasional skirmishes, though the Chinese officially complain of vigorous Japanese attacks west of Nanking.

STRONG ATTITUDE
AT GENEVAJAPAN ASKED TO WITH-DRAW TROOPS

(REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.)

GENEVA, Mar. 4.

Acrimony between Mr. W. W. Yen, the Chinese representative, and Mr. Sato, who took up Japan's case to-day, was the feature of the resumed discussion in the League Assembly on the Shanghai situation.

Mr. Yen complained that Japanese troops were still fighting and declared it to be obvious that they aimed at dominating the whole district up to Nanking.

Mr. Sato vigorously denied the allegations.

MR. YEN'S DEMAND

Mr. Yen demanded of the Assembly that steps be taken to effect an armistice and the President, M. Hymans, suspended the sitting to enable a small committee to draft a resolution governing the terms of a cessation of hostilities and outlining the further steps necessary at Shanghai.

SUGGESTED TERMS

Later in the evening, the full meeting of the Assembly was resumed and M. Hymans introduced a resolution:

"That the Assembly, recalling the Council resolution of February 28, and the other measures which have been contemplated, firstly, invites the Governments of China and Japan to take immediately the necessary steps to assure the effective execution of the orders given by the commanders of both forces for the cessation of hostilities."

Secondly, to inform the Assembly of the conditions on which the invitation formulated in Paragraph One has been carried out.

Thirdly, recommends that negotiations should be undertaken by the Japanese and Chinese representatives, with the assistance of the naval and military authorities of the Powers with a view to making the cessation of hostilities definite, and to arranging for the withdrawal of the Japanese forces.

"The Assembly expressed the wish that the Powers referred to will keep it informed regarding the progress of the negotiations."

Mr. Sato, the Japanese delegate, moved as an amendment, an addition to Paragraph Three of the following words "and the future standing of the Chinese Forces."

After discussion, the amendment was withdrawn under protest and the resolution was adopted.

Japan did not oppose the adoption of the resolution, the whole Assembly, composed of the delegates of almost every country in the world, expressing its approval.

SERIOUS MATTER

The resolution is regarded as making a breach of the injunction calling on the Japanese and Chinese Governments to enforce the cessation of hostilities, a very serious matter.

And it is regarded as important that the resolution recommends the Chinese and Japanese to confer with the other Powers to regulate the withdrawal of the Japanese forces. The Assembly is meeting again to-morrow.

BARON TAKUMA DAN
ASSASSINATED

SHOT BY 21-YEAR-OLD YOUTH

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

TOKYO, Mar. 5.

Succumbing to wounds, inflicted by means of a revolver by a twenty-one-year-old youth, named Hishinuma, who refuses to divulge reasons for the crime, the seventy-two-year-old Baron Takuma Dan, one of the leading figures of Japanese industry and Director of the world famous firm of Mitsui, died at 12.30 p.m. to-day.

Hishinuma shot Baron Dan as he was stepping out of his motor car outside Mitsui's office. The Baron died less than half an hour later.

It is believed that his assailant was inspired by the allegation that Mitsui, in anticipation of the re-imposition of the gold ban, had bought dollars and made millions of yen at the country's expense.

The police are, at present, working on the theory that the assassination of Baron Dan and Mr. Inouye, the late Minister for Finance, are closely related.

Hishinuma refuses to say anything, but investigation reveals that he comes from the same district as Mr. Inouye's murderer—the Ibaragi Prefecture.

REORGANISATION OF

TRUSTEE CO.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Mar. 4.

The scheme for the reorganisation of the R.M.S.P. shipping organisation is not likely to go through without some opposition.

The scheme provides for the splitting of the Royal Mail fleet into two, one to be controlled by "Royal Mail Lines, Limited" and the other group by the Elder Dempster Shipping Line.

The plan is opposed by the Premier Investment Company, Ltd., and the London Maritime Investment Company, the trustees of the "A" Debenture holders of the Elder Dempster Company.

The London Maritime Investment Company have sent out a circular stating that the High Court is of opinion that the scheme is of no advantage to the "A" Debenture holders.

Another Letter.

The London Maritime Investment Company, Limited, who are also trustees of the Six Per Cent Debenture holders of the African Steamship Company, have sent a letter to the latter company, stating that while they cannot recommend the scheme as a fair solution of the problem as far as it relates to the Elder Dempster group, stockholders of the African S.S. Company would be well advised not to oppose the scheme, the alternative to which is the appointment of a Receiver.

CANTON STUDENTS
PREVAILANTI-JAPANESE ACTIVITIES
SANCTIONEDFATAL COLLISION IN PEARL RIVER

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Mar. 6.

Canton has finally yielded to the pressure of the students and granted their demand for a ten-days' holiday in which to do anti-Japanese propaganda work. The Government order sanctioning the activities of these students was made public yesterday morning, after the students had been doing anti-Japanese propaganda work instead of attending their classes for nearly a week.

The students of Sun Yat Sen University have decided to organize a volunteer corps and take up intensive military training, instead of joining the lecture campaign. Every student of the University must take an active part in such training. The girl students will at the same time undergo intensive training for war nurses. In order to give their whole attention to the matter, these students have further decided to stop attending their classes for a period of two weeks, beginning to-morrow.

The University authorities are reported to be favourably disposed towards the matter, although they have thus far made no open statement. The students are appealing not only to the University authorities, but also to General Chen Tasi Tung for moral as well as material support. They want Mr. Ho Chun Pan, Secretary to the President of the University and a military man of note, for their commander.

ACCIDENT IN PEARL RIVER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Mar. 6.

An accident occurred on the Pearl River during the early hours of this morning, when a steam boat rammed a heavily freighted sampan. The latter sank immediately, and one member of the crew was drowned. The sampan, loaded with fruit, was on its way to the Canton market, when the disaster occurred. The heavy fog was responsible for the collision. It was so thick that the boatmen could see only a few feet. Immediately following the accident a big part of the river was covered with floating oranges, tangerines, and other fruits.

"GOLD RUSH" IN BRITAIN

ASCOT GOLD CUP SOLD

(Reuter's Special Service.)

LONDON, Mar. 5.

The latest curiosity of England's "gold rush" is the sale of the Ascot Gold Cup to the Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company.

The name of the seller and the year the Cup was won have, of course, not been divulged.

The Cup was valued at 2500.

WAR DEBTS DUE TO BRITAIN

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Mar. 4.

Replying to a question in Parliament, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said the amount of War Debts due to Britain by foreign Governments at the date of funding was as follows:—

France	2900,000,000
Italy	500,000,000
Rumania	18,448,200
Portugal	20,133,000
Greece	21,440,000
Yugo-Slavia	25,561,000

Capitalized, the present value of the annuities at the date of fund on a five per cent basis was:—France, 2,227,000,000; Italy, 277,600,000; Rumania, 28,744,000; Portugal, 26,992,000; Greece, 20,715,000; Yugo-Slavia, 23,232,000.

The percentage of debt remitted on this basis was:—France, 62; Italy, 88; Rumania, 63; Portugal, 63; Greece, 69; Yugo-Slavia, 67.

Liability for the war debt of Belgium was assumed by Germany under the Treaty of Versailles, and the war debt of Russia had not yet been funded.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 6.

It was a quiet day on all fronts to-day. There was even an absence of rumours. It is reliably reported that one Japanese aircraft carrier moved up the Yangtze as far as Locheh (Dor River) and that some Japanese troops have been landed there. There is still no evidence that any immediate peace conference is likely here.

POSITION AT SHANGHAI

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

RUGBY, Mar. 5.

The position in Shanghai is that all Chinese forces are now outside the twenty kilometre zone and the Japanese state that all their troops remain within that zone, although it is not quite clear whether they apply also to reinforcements recently landed in the Linho neighbourhood. General hostilities have ceased although where Chinese and Japanese are in close contact occasional bursts of rifle fire have occurred, notably in Nanziang area.

In accordance with a request of the League Assembly officers of neutral Powers with special interests in Shanghai are investigating the situation on the spot. At Geneva this morning when the general committee of the Assembly met again Secretary-General Drummond announced that he had received a notification that the United States Government had given instructions for American military, naval and civilian representatives to co-operate with those of other Powers in the spirit of the resolution passed by the Assembly last night.

NEW CAPITAL

LOYANG, Mar. 6.

The plenary session of the Central Executive Committee made yet another capital of China as the result of to-day's deliberations, when it decided to retain Loyang as a "temporary capital" while making Sianfu the "co-capital" with the title of Hsi Ching (Western Capital). The session also decided to alter the regulations concerning the functions of the Military Council, making the Council's chairman concurrently Commander-in-Chief of China's Army, Navy and Aviation Forces.

CHINESE OFFICIAL REPORT

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

NANKING, Mar. 5.

In view of sensational reports of Chinese victories, the Foreign Office this morning urgently requested information from the Headquarters of the Nineteenth Army, and the following reply, timed noon to-day, signed by Generals Tsai Ting Kai, Chang Kuang Nai and Tai Chien, denies the reports that Chinese troops have recaptured Linho and are advancing towards Chapei. The message goes on to say:—

"Large Japanese forces are vigorously attacking from Nanking, our Headquarters now at Chapei, one station west of Kunshan. The objective of the new Japanese offensive is unknown."

WHAT IS CHINA'S GAME?

LONDON, Mar. 5.

It is high time, in the interests of the whole world, that the open sore in Shanghai should be healed, exclaims the Daily Telegraph in distributing blame impartially to both sides.

The Paper adds, that the Chinese refusal to enter earlier the proposed Round Table Conference in Shanghai to discuss the policing of neutral zone colours the suspicion that China is not disinclined to prolong the present situation and is anxious to see the first fruits of the Assembly action, thus Orientalising exploitation of the prejudice which Japanese high-handed action created in Geneva.

On the other hand, Japan would welcome an honourable conclusion to an adventure which demonstrates her military strength without hope of military glory or commercial gain.

SOVIET SUSPICIOUS

The Nepa Chronicle disbelieves the Investigator's story of an elaborate Japanese plot to occupy all chief territories east of Lake Baikal. The Paper says that the Soviet does not desire war, having other preoccupations.

BELLIGERENT!

The Manchester Guardian, like a voice in the wilderness, continues to urge the League to declare Japan guilty of violation of Chinese territory and to implement the Sanctions of the Covenant. This one is safe to say, Britain does not contemplate even momentarily.

STILL FIGHTING?

(REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.)

SHANGHAI, Mar. 6.

In spite of denials from Japanese Headquarters, Chinese official reports state that Japanese troops attacked the Chinese lines this morning in the Kiating and Taitung sectors. The reports added that Japanese planes bombed Quinsan.

The Nanking Government emphatically repudiates the contention that a truce exists, stating that the Chinese and Japanese troops are in hostile contact all along the front. "Sulamate" still describes the local situation.

DEMILITARISATION

In an officially expressed view to Router to-day, the Chinese Government states, that any demilitarisation or extension of the Settlement in Shanghai cannot possibly be accepted by any Government in China, as acceptance would mean a revolution in view of the present feelings of the Chinese people.

Shanghai to-day is in a state of feverish excitement. The flag of the National Government flies from every window, and crowds are seeking in the streets. British troops are marching back and forth in the streets in columns headed by pipers of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the military bands of other battalions.

Peace negotiations are, at present, not proceeding and, owing to the mood of the Chinese people, Government leaders say.

"Peace is not in sight, as the Chinese people are resigned to accept any sacrifice, rather than unreasonable demands."

FALSE REPORTS OF VICTORY

SHANGHAI, Mar. 5.

After hours of excitement and the terrific din of fire-crackers celebrating the "Chinese victory," the International Settlement is now quiet. The streets are deserted except for strong military patrols.

It appears that Reuter was unwittingly a party to the demonstrations this evening which were due to placards in the streets and also to a broadcast message stating: "Reuter announces that the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, General Shirakawa, has been killed in a great Chinese victory at Linho."

Statement False.

Reuter, of course, had announced nothing of the kind but the attribution was used in order to show "the genuineness and truthfulness of the report."

The broadcaster suggested the firing of crackers and mafficking to celebrate "the good news." The demonstrations which followed were, of course, totally unjustified and Reuter's Office was kept busy all the evening denying the report.

DEMILITARISATION OF SHANGHAI?

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

SHANGHAI, Mar. 6.

Indications that Japan will claim an indemnity from China in the event of the proposals for an international round table conference coming to anything, are contained in a semi-official report from Tokyo, stating the attitude of the Japanese Government.

The report says that Japan, in regard to the proposed Conference, claims the right to demand the payment of damages arising from the Shanghai Incident.

Japan will also demand the strict suppression of all anti-Japanese activities.

Japan is also prepared to discuss a permanent plan for the settlement of all basic questions relative to Shanghai, "thereby ensuring a lasting guarantee of the safety of the Settlements and their residences."

The final paragraph is taken to mean that Japan will strain for the "demilitarisation" of the Shanghai area.

PORTUGAL WINS INTER-NATIONAL CUP.

SCOTLAND OUTPLAYED IN THE FINAL.

In the Sunday Herald charity cup competition, played on the Club Ground on Saturday, Scotland started favourites but the Portuguese proved too good for them and won by 4 goals to 1. The Portuguese took the lead through B. Gosano and Ward added their second goal.

The Scots tried time and again to break the stubborn resistance afforded them but without success and half time came with no change in the score sheet.

After a period of unsuccessful pressure by Scotland Fraser sent in a hard drive which McGinn could only punch out and Hill headed into the net to reduce the Scots' deficit. This success was shortlived for straight from the kick off B. Gosano sent his wing man away for consoling to send in a drive which completely deceived Rodger and entered the net. The Scots were now pressing hotly, but beyond Hill sending in from a centre, there was little to worry the Portuguese keeper. B. Gosano put his brother away towards the end and Rodger came out of goal to intercept, but Gosano turned the ball into the net as he met Rodger and was injured, necessitating his retirement for a few minutes. The final score was Scotland 1, Portugal 4.

At the conclusion of the match, Mr. R. K. Duncan called upon Mrs. Wedhouse, wife of Mr. P. P. U. Wedhouse, to present the trophy to the Portuguese captain, B. Gosano.

THIRD DIVISION MATCHES.

R.A.F. 2 R.E. 1.

A keenly contested game on Chatham Road resulted in a win for the Airmen by the odd goal in three. The Engineers scored first after a goalless first half and held the lead until the R.A.F. staged a severe onslaught during which they scored twice. Hollingsworth scored for the Engineers while Collins and Haworth got the goals for the Airmen.

ST. JOSEPHS v. RADIO 1.

The Saints had an easy win, scoring nine times to the Radio's single goal. Sims and Vempin (with a "hat trick") scored for the Saints before the interval without reply. In the second half, the Radio XI showed better form but Elma and Massey had no one to whom to rely for support. Vempin scored the fifth from a penalty. Massey broke through and got the Radio's only goal. Sim, Vempin, Delgado and Omar scored further goals for the Saints in that order.

CHINA FLEET SHIELD.

WREN WINS AFTER EXTRA TIME.

The Final of the China Fleet Junior Shield was won by H.M.S. Wren after a thrilling and hard fought game. Half time arrived with the score sheet blank. The defences of both teams were outstanding against two equally determined sets of forwards. When the final whistle sounded neither side had the advantage and extra time was decreed. This proved equally as exciting. At the change over there was still no score. Then, two minutes from the end of the extra session, Luckett scored from the left wing to give the Wren the victory.

CHAMPIONS TO RETAIN THE SHIELD?

INDIANS SCORE EASY WIN OVER ARTILLERY IN SENIOR CRICKET LEAGUE.

POLICE FORCE KOWLOON JUNIORS TO A DRAW: BRYANT'S EFFORT FOR THE GUNNERS.

By reason of their win over the Royal Artillery on Saturday, the Indian Recreation Club have strengthened their chances of retaining the senior shield in the Cricket League. They are now three points ahead of their nearest rivals, Craigengower Cricket Club, with the same number of games played and it is considered in many quarters that the Sookumpoo team will have no difficulty in winning the shield again although they have still to play against the formidable Kowloon Cricket Club team.

Although they were not engaged over the week-end, the I.R.C. juniors have also consolidated their chances of being champions again for the current season. This is owing to the fact that Kowloon Cricket Club, who are running neck-to-neck with them for the top position, dropped two valuable points when they could only manage a draw against the Police at King's Park. The I.R.C. are two points behind their rivals but have a match in hand and the meeting of these two teams, later in the season, will be looked forward to with much interest by all followers of the game.

YESTERDAY'S MATCHES.

FAREWELL GAME TO I.R.C. CRICKETER.

An inter-club match—in the nature of a farewell match to Mr. H. T. Barma, the popular I.R.C. cricketer—took place on the Indian Recreation Club yesterday when an eleven captained by Mr. F. D. Pereira beat a team led by Mr. Barma by two wickets.

Mr. Barma's side batted first but against some splendid bowling by A. R. Abbas (6 for 50) and A. K. Ismail (4 for 23) were all out for 58 runs, Nazarin being top scorer with 10.

The winners started none too well but they eventually went on to make 71 runs. A. S. Suffad (18) was the highest scorer while bowling honours went to H. D. Rumsjohn who took 4 wickets for 13 runs. The scores were:—

A PRESENTATION.

After the match, the players gathered in the pavilion, and, speaking in behalf of the cricketers members of the Club, Mr. A. A. Rumsjohn, the captain of the first eleven, said that he wished Mr. Barma, on behalf of the I.R.C. cricketers, a very pleasant voyage and a happy stay in his homeland. Mr. Barma, said Mr. Rumsjohn, had done a lot for I.R.C. cricket, both in his capacity as Hon. Secretary as well as the vice-captain of the second eleven. His departure would mean a great loss for the Club for it was a well-known fact amongst all who knew him that Mr. Barma played cricket in every walk of life! (Applause.)

Mr. Rumsjohn then handed Mr. Barma a cricket ball which, Mr. Rumsjohn hoped, would remind him of the very many happy days spent in the Club.

Another Function.

On Friday evening, a very pleasing function was held in the Club's pavilion when members gathered to wish Mr. Barma bon voyage and good luck. In the absence of the President, Mr. A. el Arculli, who could not attend on account of illness, the Vice-President, Mr. Bishan Singh, occupied the chair, and, in a short speech, said that they all wished Mr. Barma the best of luck in India. Mr. Barma was going back to his home, and the chances were that he would not return to the Colony. The Club, therefore, had lost one of its keenest supporters and the speaker added that he hoped Mr. Barma would keep in constant touch with the I.R.C. and its members.

Messrs. R. M. Omar and M. R. Abbas also made short speeches and in calling upon the gathering to drink to Mr. Barma's health, Mr. Omar asked them for musical honours which were heartily accorded.

CRAIGENGOWER v. KOWLOON.

These Clubs met in an all-day game at Happy Valley when the home team won by 2 wickets.

Kowloon took first knock and, thanks to a good innings for 50 by N. A. E. Mackay, made 153 runs. To this total Craigengower replied with 173, U. M. Omar being top-scorer with 68.

The scores were:—

Kowloon 153

Craigengower 173

CAER CLARK CUP.

H.K. LADIES GO THROUGH SEASON UNDEFEATED.

RECREIO BEATEN BY TWO GOALS TO NIL.

The Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Club have once again won the Caer Clark Cup without sustaining a single defeat. They won five of their six games and drew the other one.

The team completed their League fixtures on Saturday when they met and defeated the Recreio Ladies team, with whom they had previously played a drawn game.

The winners scored two goals in the first half, when the Recreio team found the Champions' forwards a hot proposition. A change of tactics in the second half proved fruitful and the Recreio side was able to hold down the Hong Kong team and on several occasions looked as if they were going to score.

The final score was 2-1.
